INTRODUCTION

In this ERISA class action, Plaintiffs and Class Counsel¹ obtained a settlement creating a $4.1 million Settlement Fund for over 36,000 Class Members. As compensation for their efforts, Class Counsel request attorneys' fees in the amount of $1,366,666 (one-third of the $4.1 million Settlement Fund). This amount reflects Class Counsel's time and labor litigating such a large and complex ERISA class action, the considerable risks that Class Counsel assumed in bringing this contingency-fee case borne out of their own investigation, and the high-quality representation they provided. "In similar ERISA excessive fee cases, ... district courts have consistently recognized that a one-third fee is the market rate." Cates v. Trustees of Columbia Univ. in City of New York, No. 1:16-CV-06524-GBD, 2021 WL 4847890, at *7 (S.D.N.Y. Oct. 18, 2021).

Class Counsel also request reimbursement of $48,980.72 in litigation expenses and $106,895.23 in settlement administration expenses, which were all reasonable expenses customarily incurred in these types of cases. Finally, Class Counsel request $5,000 service awards for each of the three Class Representatives to compensate them for the time that they have invested in the litigation, the benefits they have provided to the Settlement Class, and the reputational risks they undertook in bringing this action against their former employer. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and Class Counsel respectfully request that the Court approve the requested distributions.

BACKGROUND

I. PROCEDURAL HISTORY²

A. The Pleadings and Motion to Dismiss

On August 11, 2021, Plaintiffs filed this action alleging that Defendants breached their ERISA fiduciary duties by hiring themselves (and affiliated companies) to provide recordkeeping services to the Xerox Corporation Savings Plan (“Plan”) at a cost of up to four times more than what other recordkeepers would have charged for similar services. ECF No. 1. ¶¶ 4, 6-8. Defendants filed a motion to dismiss the Complaint, ECF No. 53, which the Court denied on April 18, 2022, ECF No. 78 at 20. Defendants filed an Answer on May 2, 2022. ECF No. 79.

B. Discovery, Mediation, and Settlement

Prior to resolving this matter, the parties engaged in significant discovery efforts. Defendants produced over 7,200 pages of documents in response to Plaintiffs’ document requests. See Decl. of Brock Specht in Supp. of Plfs.’ Mot. for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement (“First Specht Decl.”), ECF No. 99-02 ¶ 12. Defendants also responded to Interrogatories propounded by Plaintiffs. After agreeing to mediate, the parties submitted a joint stipulation for reference to ADR, which requested the Court stay certain discovery deadlines pending this mediation. ECF No. 84. The Court granted the motion in part but declined to extend certain discovery deadlines as requested by the parties. See ECF No. 85. Given the Court’s order, the parties engaged in a series of meet-and-confers and exchanged several emails regarding discovery issues. See ECF No. 87-1 at 4.³ While these efforts resolved most of the disputes between the parties regarding discovery issues, there remained a handful of disputed issues that the parties were not able to resolve. As a result, Plaintiffs filed a motion to compel Defendants to produce certain categories of documents, but requested the Court hold this motion in abeyance until after mediation. See ECF No. 87; ECF No. 87-1 at 1.

On October 11, 2022, the Parties engaged in a full-day, in-person mediation before Mr. Geronemus. First Specht Decl. ¶ 14. Mr. Geronemus is an experienced and well-respected mediator, who has successfully resolved numerous ERISA cases and other complex actions. Id.; ECF No. 99-04. After extensive arm’s-length negotiations through Mr. Geronemus, the Parties reached a settlement in principle, and then prepared the comprehensive Settlement Agreement that is the subject of this motion. First Specht Decl. ¶ 15.

II. SETTLEMENT TERMS AND PRELIMINARY APPROVAL

On September 27, 2023, the Court issued an Order granting preliminarily approval of the Settlement. ECF No. 103. In its Order, the Court preliminarily certified the Settlement Class for Settlement purposes and found that the terms of the Settlement are “fair, reasonable, and adequate,” as well as in accordance with all applicable requirements of law and approved the distribution of the Settlement Notices as specified in the Settlement Agreement. See id. at 2-4. In addition, the Court approved of the Settlement Administrator being selected through Plaintiffs’ competitive bidding process. Id. at 4. Through that process, Analytics Consulting LLC (“Analytics”) was selected to serve as the Settlement Administrator, distribute the Notices, and carry out the other duties specified in the Settlement Agreement. See Decl. of Brock Specht in Supp. of Plfs.’ Mot. for Attorneys’ Fees and Costs, Administrative Expenses, and Class Representative Service Awards (“Second Specht Decl.”) ¶¶ 7, 10.

III. WORK OF CLASS COUNSEL

Although this action settled relatively early in the litigation process, Class Counsel have expended significant time and effort prosecuting this action and achieving the Settlement on behalf of the Class. To date, the total amount of time invested by Class Counsel is approximately 839.4 hours, and additional work will be required going forward to implement the Settlement. See Second Specht Decl. ¶¶ 12, 17. This work is detailed in the accompanying declaration from Class Counsel and is summarized below.

A. Work Conducted to Date

Prior to filing this action, Class Counsel conducted an in-depth investigation of the Plan and its expenses. First Specht Decl. ¶ 10. Thereafter, Class Counsel vigorously prosecuted the action on behalf of the Class. Among other things, Class Counsel: (1) drafted the initial class action Complaint; (2) responded to Defendants' motion to dismiss; (3) drafted a comprehensive set of early discovery requests; (4) met and conferred with Defendants during the course of informal discovery; (5) reviewed 7,200 pages of documents produced by Defendants; (6) drafted a written mediation statement with accompanying exhibits; (7) participated in a full-day mediation with Defendants; and (8) consulted with the Class Representatives throughout the course of the case. Second Specht Decl. ¶ 11.

In addition, Class Counsel have undertaken considerable work in connection with the Settlement and settlement administration, including (1) drafting the Settlement Agreement and exhibits thereto; (2) preparing Plaintiffs' Preliminary Approval Motion papers; (3) reviewing the bids received from settlement administrator candidates and selecting Analytics as the Settlement Administrator; (4) reviewing the final drafts of the Settlement Notices prepared by Analytics, and ensuring that they were timely mailed by Analytics; (5) working with Analytics to create a settlement website and telephone support line for Class Members; (6) communicating with Class Members; (7) communicating with the Independent Fiduciary and providing it with information in connection with its review; and (8) preparing the present motion. Id.

B. Remaining Work to Be Performed

Class Counsel's work on this matter remains ongoing. Prior to the Fairness Hearing, Class Counsel will draft Plaintiffs' motion for final approval of the Settlement and respond to any objections. Id. ¶ 17. Class Counsel will then attend the Fairness Hearing, and if final approval is granted, supervise the distribution of payments to Class Members. Id. In addition, Class Counsel will continue to respond to questions from Class Members and take any other actions necessary to support the Settlement until the conclusion of the Settlement Period. Id.

C. Class Representatives' Work

The Class Representatives (Chris Carrigan, Michael Venti, and Sylvain Yelle) have also worked to advance the Class Members' interests. Specifically, they (1) reviewed the allegations in the Complaint; (2) provided information and documents to Class Counsel to assist in the action's investigation and prosecution; (3) made themselves available to answer questions from Class Counsel and to stay informed on the action's status; (4) conferred with Class Counsel regarding their claims' potential strengths and weaknesses and the potential risks and rewards of the Settlement compared to pursuing further litigation; and (5) submitted individual declarations in support of the Settlement. Id. ¶ 25; see also ECF Nos. 99-06, 99-07, 99-08 (Class Representative declarations).

D. Work of the Settlement Administrator and Independent Fiduciary

The Settlement also requires time, resources, and expertise from non-parties. As the Settlement Administrator, Analytics work to administer the Settlement includes (1) reviewing the Class Member information provided by Defendants; (2) preparing and mailing the Settlement Notices; (3) searching for valid addresses for any Class Members whose Notices were returned as undeliverable; (4) establishing a telephone support line for Class Members; (5) creating and maintaining the Settlement Website; (6) distributing the notices to government officials required by the Class Action Fairness Act (“CAFA”); and (7) managing the project and communicating with the Parties regarding the status of settlement administration. See Class Action Settlement Agreement (“Settlement Agreement”), ECF No. 99-3 ¶¶ 3.3, 12.1, 12.2; Second Specht Decl. ¶ 22. As the Independent Fiduciary, Gallagher Fiduciary Advisors, LLC has reviewed the Settlement⁴ and independently determined that it is in the best interest of the Plan to release its claims against Defendants in exchange for the relief provided. See ECF Nos. 102, 102-01; Second Specht Decl. ¶ 23.

IV. REQUESTED ATTORNEYS’ FEES, EXPENSES, AND SERVICE AWARDS

In consideration of the work summarized above and associated expenses, the Settlement provides that Plaintiffs may seek (1) Attorneys’ Fees; (2) litigation costs; (3) payment of Administrative Expenses, including the expenses of the Settlement Administrator and Independent Fiduciary; and (4) a $5,000 service award for each of the Class Representatives. Settlement ¶¶ 8.1-8.2. Accordingly, Plaintiffs seek the following amounts in connection with this motion:

- Attorneys’ Fees: $1,366,666 (one-third of the $4.1 million Settlement Fund)
- Litigation Expenses: $48,980.72
- Total Settlement Administration Expenses: $106,895.23 (inclusive of the below expenses)
 - Settlement Administrator: $91,895.23
 - Independent Fiduciary: $15,000
- Class Representative Compensation: $15,000 total ($5,000 each)

⁴ This independent fiduciary review is called for by DOL regulations and is also required by the Settlement. See Prohibited Transaction Exemption 2003-39, 68 Fed. Reg. 75,632, as amended (Dec. 31, 2003); Settlement ¶ 3.1.

ARGUMENT

I. STANDARD OF REVIEW

When counsel obtain a class settlement, courts “may award reasonable attorney’s fees and nontaxable costs that are authorized by law or by the parties’ agreement.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(h). Here, the Settlement Agreement and applicable law authorize the requested distributions.

“It is well-established under the common fund doctrine that attorneys who create a fund for the benefit of a class of plaintiffs are entitled to reasonable compensation from that fund.” Fikes Wholesale, Inc. v. HSBC Bank USA, N.A., 62 F.4th 704, 723 (2d Cir. 2023) (quotation omitted); see also Boeing Co. v. Van Gemert, 444 U.S. 472, 478 (1980) (“[A] litigant or a lawyer who recovers a common fund for the benefit of persons other than himself or his client is entitled to a reasonable attorney’s fee from the fund as a whole.”). Courts typically employ either the “percentage of the fund” method or the “lodestar” method to compute fees. Goldberger v. Integrated Res., Inc., 209 F.3d 43, 50 (2d Cir. 2000). But “[t]he trend in this Circuit is toward the percentage method, which directly aligns the interests of the class and its counsel and provides a powerful incentive for the efficient prosecution and early resolution of [the] litigation.” Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Visa U.S.A., Inc., 396 F.3d 96, 121 (2d Cir. 2005) (internal citation and quotation omitted). The percentage method is especially appropriate where, as here, “the parties were able to settle relatively early and before any depositions occurred.” Hyun v. Ippudo USA Holdings, No. 14-CV-8706, 2016 WL 1222347, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 24, 2016) (noting that “the percentage method[] . . . avoids the lodestar method’s potential to ‘create a disincentive to early settlement’” (quoting McDaniel v. County of Schenectady, 595 F.3d 411, 418 (2d Cir. 2010))).⁵

Likewise, “reasonable expenses of litigation” may be recovered from a common fund, see Mills v. Elec. Auto-Lite Co., 396 U.S. 375, 391-92 (1970), as well as settlement administrative expenses, see Henry v. Little Mint, Inc., No. 12 Civ. 3996(CM), 2014 WL 2199427, at *17 (S.D.N.Y. May 23, 2014) (ordering settlement administration expenses to be paid “from the Settlement Fund”). Finally, class representative service awards serve the purposes of Rule 23 and may be awarded to compensate efforts undertaken on behalf of class members. See In re Marsh ERISA Litig., 265 F.R.D. 128, 150-51 (S.D.N.Y. 2010) (awarding $15,000 case contribution awards to each of the three named plaintiffs). For all the reasons set forth below, the Court should approve the requested distributions, which are customary in a class action such as this.

II. THE COURT SHOULD GRANT CLASS COUNSEL’S REQUEST FOR ATTORNEYS’ FEES.

In awarding attorneys’ fees, courts in the Second Circuit consider a list of factors set forth in Goldberger: “(1) the time and labor expended by counsel; (2) the magnitude and complexities of the litigation; (3) the risk of the litigation ...; (4) the quality of representation; (5) the requested fee in relation to the settlement; and (6) public policy considerations.” 209 F.3d at 50 (citation omitted). “Generally, the factor given the greatest emphasis is the size of the fund created, because ‘a common fund is itself the measure of success and represents the benchmark from which a reasonable fee will be awarded.’” Manual for Complex Litigation, Fourth, § 14.121, at 193 (2004) (cleaned up) (quoting 4 Alba Conte & Herbert B. Newberg, Newberg on Class Actions, § 14:6, at 547, 550 (4th ed. 2002)); see also Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 436 (1983) (“[T]he most critical factor is the degree of success obtained.”).

the requested percentage. Id. The key consideration in awarding fees is what is reasonable under the circumstances. Id. at 47.

result: They thoroughly investigated the matter prior to filing suit, contested a motion to dismiss, conducted early discovery, engaged in a full-day, in-person mediation with the assistance of a well-respected mediator, took the lead in drafting the Settlement Agreement and accompanying exhibits, and submitted multiple filings and appeared for conferences with the Court in connection with the Settlement. See supra at 2-3. To date, Class Counsel's lodestar is already $468,992.00. Second Specht Decl. ¶ 15.

Following this motion, Class Counsel will continue to oversee the Settlement's administration, respond to Class Member inquiries, draft and file a motion for final approval, attend the Fairness Hearing, and take any other measures necessary to effectuate the Settlement. See Second Specht Decl. ¶ 17. This additional work should be considered by the Court in connection with the present motion. See Yuzary v. HSBC Bank USA, N.A., No. 12 Civ. 3693(PGG), 2013 WL 5492998, at *11 (S.D.N.Y. Oct. 2, 2013) ("Where class counsel will be required to spend significant additional time on this litigation in connection with implementing and monitoring the settlement, the multiplier will actually be significantly lower because the award includes not only time spent prior to the award, but after in enforcing the settlement." (quotation omitted) (cleaned up)).

Further, the hourly rates used to calculate Class Counsel's lodestar are "reasonable and are comparable to fees that have been recently approved in [other] ERISA class action[s]." Sims v. BB&T Corp., No. 1:15-CV-732, 2019 WL 1993519, at *3 (M.D.N.C. May 6, 2019) (addressing and approving Nichols Kaster's billing rates); see also Johnson v. Fujitsu Tech. & Bus. of Am., Inc., No. 16-CV-03698-NC, 2018 WL 2183253, at *7 (N.D. Cal. May 11, 2018) (describing Nichols Kaster's billing rates as "reasonable"). Nichols Kaster's billing rates for ERISA actions range from $725 to $950 per hour for attorneys with more than 10 years of experience, $425 to $500 per hour for attorneys with 10 years or less experience, and $250 per hour for paralegals and clerks. See Second Specht Decl. Ex. 1 (Fee Summary). These rates harmonize with (and are slightly less than) the rates approved for other experienced ERISA litigators. See, e.g., Kruger v. Novant Health, Inc., No. 1:14-CV-208, 2016 WL 6769066, at *4 (M.D.N.C. Sept. 29, 2016) (adopting attorney rates of $460 to $998 per hour based on years of experience); Spano v. Boeing Co., No. 06-CV-743-NJR-DGW, 2016 WL 3791123, at *3 (S.D. Ill. Mar. 31, 2016) (same); Abbott v. Lockheed Martin Corp., No. 06-CV-701-MJR-DGW, 2015 WL 4398475, at *3 (S.D. Ill. July 17, 2015) (adopting attorney rates of $447 to $974 per hour based on years of experience).

“[T]he trend in the Second Circuit is to apply the percentage method and loosely use the lodestar method as a baseline or as a cross check.” Solis v. OrthoNet LLC, No. 19-CV-4678 (VSB), 2021 WL 2678651, at *4 (S.D.N.Y. June 30, 2021) (citation omitted). “Typically, courts use multipliers of 2 to 6 times the lodestar.” Id. The requested 33.3% fee in this case represents a multiplier of 2.91, which falls well within the reasonable range. See id. Indeed, in the Second Circuit, “a multiplier of 3.5 ... has been deemed reasonable.” Wal-Mart Stores, 396 F.3d at 123. In sum, Class Counsel’s efforts justify the requested fee.

B. The Magnitude and Complexity of the Litigation Support the Requested Fee.

Courts recognize that “ERISA 401(k) fiduciary breach class actions are extremely complex and require a willingness to risk significant resources in time and money, given the uncertainty of recovery and the protracted and sharply-contested nature of ERISA litigation.” Bekker v. Neuberger Berman Grp. 401(k) Plan Inv. Comm., 504 F. Supp. 3d 265, 269 (S.D.N.Y. 2020). “Class Counsel thus must be knowledgeable about this complex and developing area of law, aware of numerous merits and procedural pitfalls, willing to risk dismissal at any stage, and prepared to pursue many years of litigation. This case was no exception.” Id. at 270. Here, the class size was substantial, involving more than 36,000 Class Members. See First Specht Decl. ¶ 3. Based on their experience litigating similar ERISA cases (see infra at 13), Class Counsel were uniquely able to navigate this case's size and complexity and achieve a successful result for their clients and the Class. This supports their fee request. See Bekker, 504 F. Supp. 3d at 270 ("The complexity of such litigation is enormous and supports Plaintiff's fee request.").

C. Class Counsel Assumed Significant Risks.

"The level of risk associated with litigation is 'perhaps the foremost factor' to be considered' in ascertaining a reasonable fee in a common-fund action." Id. (quoting McDaniel, 595 F.3d 411 at 424). Class Counsel here assumed significant risks by taking this case on a contingent fee basis. As the Second Circuit has stated:

No one expects a lawyer whose compensation is contingent upon his success to charge, when successful, as little as he would charge a client who in advance had agreed to pay for his services, regardless of success. Nor, particularly in complicated cases producing large recoveries, is it just to make a fee depend solely on the reasonable amount of time expended.

City of Detroit v. Grinnell Corp., 495 F.2d 448, 470 (2d Cir. 1974).

Without settlement, Class Counsel would have faced considerable litigation risks. See Marsh, 265 F.R.D. at 148 ("[T]he risk for Plaintiffs' Counsel in this ERISA company stock case was significant. Moreover, in addition to the risks discussed above, Plaintiffs' Counsel had to contend with the traditional risks inherent in any contingent litigation."). "The risk of zero recovery here was present from the inception of this case. Dismissals have been obtained in cases alleging imprudent investment selection in 401(k) plans." Bekker, 504 F. Supp. 3d at 270. Though Plaintiffs prevailed in opposing Defendants' motion to dismiss, they still faced the potential threat of summary judgement, and beyond that, success at trial was not assured.⁶

⁶ See, e.g., Reetz v. Lowe's Cos., Inc., No. 5:18-CV-00075-KDBDCK, 2021 WL 4771535, at *1 (W.D.N.C. Oct. 12, 2021), aff'd sub nom. Reetz v. Aon Hewitt Inv. Consulting, Inc., No. 21-2267, 2023 WL 4552593 (4th Cir. July 17, 2023); Rozo v. Principal Life Ins. Co., No. 4:14-CV-00463, 2021 WL 1837539 (S.D. Iowa Apr. 8, 2021); Wildman v. Am. Century Servs., LLC, 362 F. Supp.

Even if Plaintiffs proved a fiduciary breach, they still faced potential hurdles in proving losses. As the Second Circuit has recognized, there are inherent “uncertainties in fixing damages” in cases such as this. Dardaganis v. Grace Capital Inc., 889 F.2d 1237, 1244 (2d Cir. 1989); see also Sacerdote, 328 F. Supp. 3d at 280 (finding that “while there were deficiencies in the Committee’s [fiduciary] processes—including that several members displayed a concerning lack of knowledge relevant to the Committee’s mandate—plaintiffs have not proven that ... the Plans suffered losses as a result.”). For example, in a recent ERISA class action trial, the jury found that, even though defendants had breached their fiduciary duty, no damages resulted. See Vellali v. Yale Univ., No. 3:16-CV-1345 (AWT), ECF No. 622 (D. Conn. July 13, 2023).⁷

Further, the risks here were even greater because this case did not follow a government investigation or action, but rather was uncovered by Class Counsel’s own investigation. See Grinnell Corp., 495 F.2d at 471 (in evaluating risk of litigation, court considers whether “a relevant government action [has] been instituted”); In re Currency Conversion Fee Antitrust Litig., 263 F.R.D. 110, 123 (S.D.N.Y. 2009), aff’d sub nom. Priceline.com, Inc. v. Silberman, 405 F. App’x 532 (2d Cir. 2010) (“Plaintiffs did not have the benefit of a Government investigation, and laboriously knitted this case together with painstaking attention to detail.”). In short, “the significant litigation risk present in this case meant that class counsel had taken on a venture with a high risk of failure, and that the risk should be compensated.” Fikes Wholesale, 62 F.4th at 727.

D. Class Counsel Have Provided High-Quality Representation.

Several courts have acknowledged Nichols Kaster’s expertise in ERISA class action litigation.⁸ Bloomberg has also recognized that “Nichols Kaster has been the driving force behind [the] flurry of litigation over proprietary mutual funds.” Jacklyn Wille, Deutsche Bank Can’t Shake 401(k) Fee Lawsuit, Bloomberg BNA (Oct. 17, 2016). Nichols Kaster has won favorable pretrial rulings on dispositive motions and/or class certification in over a dozen ERISA cases, recently tried three ERISA class actions, successfully litigated an appeal before the First Circuit in Putnam and has negotiated numerous ERISA class action settlements in addition to the present settlement. Second Specht Decl. ¶¶ 3-4. Class Counsel’s experience and qualifications are further summarized in the accompanying declaration. See id. ¶¶ 3-9. Based on their experience, the firm’s attorneys have been interviewed by several media outlets in connection with their ERISA work. Id. ¶ 9. This experience was crucial to the outcome obtained here and gave Plaintiffs credibility at the bargaining table. The quality of the representation, therefore, also supports the requested fee.

E. The Requested Fee Is Reasonable Compared to the Settlement.

The requested fee award of one-third of the Settlement Fund mirrors awards in similar ERISA class actions.⁹ And courts routinely approve a one-third fee, which is “the market rate” for

Aug. 16, 2019) (“Class Counsel’s requested one-third fee is common in these cases.”); Kruger, No. 1:14-CV-208, 2016 WL 6769066, at *2 (“[C]ourts have found that a one-third fee is consistent with the market rate in a complex ERISA 401(k) fee case such as this matter.” (quotation omitted)); Clark v. Duke Univ., No. 1:16-CV-1044, 2019 WL 2579201, at *5 (M.D.N.C. June 24, 2019); Sims, No. 1:15-CV-732, 2019 WL 1993519, at *2 .

“ERISA excessive fee cases” like this. Cates, 2021 WL 4847890, at *7.¹⁰

But “beyond just the monetary recovery, this [C]ourt must also consider the overall benefit to the class, including non-monetary benefits, when evaluating a fee request.” Kruger, No. 1:14-CV-208, 2016 WL 6769066, at *3. The prospective relief that was negotiated—including utilizing an independent consultant’s services to assist with a request for proposal, fee benchmarking study, or other comparative analysis to ensure that the Plan’s recordkeeping fees remain competitive—will provide additional value to the class, and further supports the requested fee. See Settlement ¶ 7.1; Moreno v. Deutsche Bank Ams. Holding Corp., No. 1:15-CV-09936, ECF No. 348, at *5 (S.D.N.Y. March 7, 2019) (describing similar non-monetary relief as having “significant value for Plan participants”); Torres v. Gristede’s Operating Corp., 519 F. App’x 1, 5 (2d Cir. 2013) (noting that injunctive and non-monetary relief were relevant factors in assessing success obtained for purposes of fee award).

F. Public Policy Supports the Requested Fee.

“Congress passed ERISA to promote the important goals of protecting and preserving the retirement savings of American workers” and encourages private enforcement. Marsh, 265 F.R.D. at 149-50. Class actions such as this are “‘a most effective weapon in the enforcement’ of federal statutes that provide for both governmental and private rights of action.” Id. at 150 (quoting Bateman Eichler, Hill Richards, Inc. v. Berner, 472 U.S. 299, 310 (1985) in the context of private securities litigation). One recent study found that because of litigation like this, “the average share of assets paid to fees for 401(k) participants in mutual funds has declined over the last 15 years” and that “these declines have been accompanied by corresponding decreases in 401(k) administrative and recordkeeping costs.”¹¹ Given this impact, “[c]ounsel’s fees should reflect the important public policy goal of providing lawyers with sufficient incentive to bring common fund cases, like this one, that serve the public interest. A fee that is too low would create poor incentives to bring a class action case such as this and would discourage lawyers from seeking plan improvements like the ones included in this settlement.” Bekker, 504 F. Supp. 3d at 270-71.¹² This is especially true where, as here, the government took no enforcement action against Defendants and “without the efforts of Plaintiffs’ Counsel, the participants in [the] Plan would not have obtained any relief at all.” Marsh, 265 F.R.D. at 150.

III. THE COURT SHOULD APPROVE THE REQUESTED COSTS AND EXPENSES BECAUSE THEY ARE REASONABLE.

A. The Litigation Costs Incurred Here Are Reasonable.

“It is well-established that counsel who create a common fund like this one are entitled to the reimbursement of litigation costs and expenses,” Marsh, 265 F.R.D. at 150, and “[c]ourts in the Second Circuit normally grant expense requests in common fund cases as a matter of course,” In re Vitamin C Antitrust Litig., No. 06-MD-1738, 2012 WL 5289514, at *11 (E.D.N.Y. Oct. 23, 2012). “The expenses that may be reimbursed from the common fund encompass ‘all reasonable’ litigation-related expenses.” Marsh, 265 F.R.D. at 150. Here, the requested litigation expenses are of a type normally incurred in complex class actions such as this. See Bekker, 504 F. Supp. 3d at 271 (“The costs and expenses are the types of costs and expenses that are routinely reimbursed by paying clients, such as ... travel, mediation fees, and photocopying costs.”). And the requested expense amount of $48,980.72 is far less than the expense amounts approved in similar cases. See, e.g., Moreno, No. 1:15-CV-09936, ECF No. 348 at 5-6 (approving $759,779.30 in litigation expenses to Nichols Kaster).¹³ The Court should therefore approve these litigation expenses.

B. The Settlement Administration Expenses Incurred Here Are Reasonable.

As Settlement Administrator, Analytics has provided services that are essential to carrying out the Settlement, including disseminating the Settlement Notice, reviewing claims review, and distributing payment. The cost of providing those services ($91,895.23) is reasonable in light of the services provided and comes to $2.55 per class member.¹⁴ And DOL regulations call for review of the Settlement by the Independent Fiduciary, as it is a “critically important” benefit to plan participants. See Marsh, 265 F.R.D. at 139. Both the total amount of these expenses and the underlying components are reasonable and customary in ERISA cases such as this. See, e.g., Moreno, No. 1:15-CV-09936, ECF No. 348 at 6 (approving “Class Counsel’s request for $106,536 in settlement administration expenses (comprising $64,036 to the settlement administrator, $2,500 to the escrow agent and $40,000 to the independent fiduciary”)); Andrus, No. 16-05698, ECF No. 83 ¶ 3 (approving administrative expenses for same types of services). This Court should therefore approve the requested settlement administration expenses in the amount of $106,895.23.

¹³ See also, e.g., Tussey, 2019 WL 3859763, at *6 (approving $2,256,805 in litigation expenses in ERISA class action); Spano, 2016 WL 3791123, at *4 (approving $1,813,198.85 in litigation expenses); Beesley v. Int’l Paper Co., No. 3:06-CV-703, 2014 WL 375432 at *4 (S.D. Ill. Jan. 31, 2014) (approving $1,563,046.39 in litigation expenses).

¹⁴ There are approximately 36,000 class members. See Memo. of Law in Supp. of Plfs.’ Mot. for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement, ECF No. 99-01 at 17.

C. The Court Should Approve the Requested Class Representative Service Awards.

“Case law in this and other circuits fully supports compensating class representatives for their work on behalf of the class, which has benefited from their representation.” Marsh, 265 F.R.D. at 150. Courts reason that such awards are compensatory in nature, reimbursing class representatives who “take on a variety of risks and tasks when they commence representative actions.” Strougo v. Bassini, 258 F. Supp. 2d 254, 264 (S.D.N.Y. 2003). Not only did the Class Representatives invest significant time in actively participating in the litigation, see supra at 5, but they also assumed significant reputational risks by suing their former employer, see Beesley, 2014 WL 375432, at *4 (“ERISA litigation against an employee’s current or former employer carries unique risks and fortitude, including alienation from employers or peers.”). And, notably, the requested award amount ($5,000) lines up with what courts have awarded in similar ERISA class actions.¹⁵

¹⁵ See Goldstein, et al. v. Mutual of America Life Ins. Co., et al., No. 1:22-CV-7862-otw, ECF No. 76 (S.D.N.Y. Oct. 5, 2023) (approving $5,000 service awards to each of the three named plaintiffs where ERISA class action settlement was reached while defendants’ motion to dismiss was pending); Bekker, 504 F. Supp. 3d at 268 (approving $20,000 service award to the named plaintiff); Marsh, 265 F.R.D. at 151 (approving $15,000 service award to each of the three named plaintiffs); see also In re Colonial BancGroup, Inc. Banks, Inc., No. 2:11-CV-00309, ECF No. 75, at *7 (N.D. Ga. Jan. 9, 2014) (approving a $5,000 service award where an ERISA class action settlement was reached shortly after defendants’ motion to dismiss was denied); *In re Beazer Homes USA, Inc. CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above, Plaintiffs and Class Counsel respectfully request that the Court approve the requested distributions from the Settlement Fund.
